When you think about bedtime stories, you remember the fables and pretty tales told to you every night, if you were lucky, before you went to bed. The grown up version is so vastly detailed you can imagine yourself playing the heroine in each and every tale.

When I opened Bedtime Stories, I wasn't sure what I'd find. I'd heard of the wicked delights that Jen Johnson wove. However I didn't imagine I'd be drawn into her version of my favorite child hood stories.

Opening up with Gissette and Henrik in The Frog prince, my mouth fell open and I felt the faint flush to my cheeks at her vivid eroticism. Not that I haven't read eroticism before; I positively love it. However, I found I couldn't take my eyes away from her carefully spun masterpiece. I moved onward after taking a break and slowing down my hammering heart to the next read, The Courtship of Wali Daad, and then on to The Princess and the Glass Hill. Victor and The Ice Princess, Evanna was a delightful read. I enjoyed the setting of this sci-fi fairytale. We can't forget the classics Snow White and The Seven Dwarves, Sleeping Beauty and Beauty and the Beast. Each tale will take you further into her world of erotic play. Just when I thought I'd run out of stories, came Puss in Boots and The King Who Heard a Joke.

I enjoyed my read of Bedtimes Stories so much I suggest to readers to pick up their own copy. I'd recommend Bedtime Stories by Jean Johnson to any number of readers.
